National Federation of Republican Women Names North Carolina GOP Leader Finalist for Reagan Award

National Winner to Be Announced at September Convention in Palm Springs

(ALEXANDRIA, Va.) – The National Federation of Republican Women (NFRW) named a North Carolina Republican leader a finalist for the Ronald Reagan Leadership Award. The national winner will be announced during the organization's 34th biennial convention in Palm Springs, Calif., Sept. 30.

Martha Jenkins, a resident of Chapel Hill and president of the North Carolina Federation of Republican Women, is one of five state presidents selected based on overall leadership and initiation of new programs, increases in membership, participation in national programs, and excellence in public relations and campaign efforts.

The national winner will be announced during the NFRW Awards Luncheon, set Sept. 30, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:45 p.m. at the Palm Springs Convention Center. For more information, visit www.nfrw.org/programs/convention/.

The award was established by the NFRW in 2005 to recognize the outstanding leadership of one state president and is presented every two years at the biennial convention.
