Dear Members and Friends of the NFRW:

It is with great pleasure that I welcome each of you, my fellow Federated Republican Women, to Florida for the 35th NFRW Biennial Convention.

Republicans throughout the sunshine state are humbled that the National Federation of Republican Women has selected beautiful Orlando for this exciting and greatly anticipated political event.

Historically, the members of the NFRW have led the way in education, inspiration and friendship and have been the strength and backbone of our great party. This convention will once again bring the leadership of Republican women together to prepare for our victory in the upcoming election cycle.

I bring you greetings from RNC Chairman Michael Steele and I am honored to have the opportunity to thank the NFRW members for your leadership and look forward to all we will accomplish at this convention to build an even stronger Republican organization for women across our great country.

Upon your arrival, you will note that Floridians take our southern hospitality almost as seriously as we do our politics! Central Florida is the tourist destination of the world for good reason and I hope you will take the time to enjoy our beaches, amusement parks, nightlife, superb shopping, our space center, Cape Canaveral or even a round of golf at one of our many courses.

The entertainment choices for you and your family's enjoyment in Florida are boundless and we are proud to share our beautiful state with you.

Again, welcome and I look forward to meeting you at this dynamic 35th NFRW Biennial Convention.

Best personal regards,

Sharon Day
