The National Federation of Republican Women Stands for A Quality Education for Every American Child

For decades, countless children have been trapped in failing government-run schools. Their families want to provide better educational options for their children, but they are being denied that opportunity because of where they live or their family income.

Enact the Education Freedom and Opportunity Scholarships Act to Give These Families a Choice AND Their Children a Better Chance to Reach Their Potential

In his 2020 State of the Union Address, President Trump called on Congress to pass the Education Freedom and Opportunities Scholarship Act. The NFRW encourages all members to co-sponsor this empowering legislation.

H.R. 1434, introduced by Representative Bradley Byrne (AL)
S. 634, introduced by Senator Ted Cruz (TX)

The legislation would expand education choice by establishing tax credits (up to $5 billion annually) to encourage individuals and businesses to contribute to scholarships for students through state-based scholarship programs.

The scholarships could go to preschool education, K-12 education, skilled trade education (which could help alleviate the existing workforce skills gap), and special schools for children and students with disabilities.

This proposed legislation is not a federal mandate. State participation is optional, and each state maintains the authority to create a program that works best for that state. No family is forced to accept a scholarship, and contributions are voluntary.

In a recent survey by the American Federation for Children, 78% of all respondents supported Education Freedom Scholarships, including 83% of African Americans, 83% of Latinos and 78% of millennials. Surveys show millions more families would choose to send their children to a charter school if they had access to one.
